the gender balance in the SPVM Executive Committee has been reached.

In november, the neighbourhood police station 33 (PDQ) asked through an online survey Parc-Extension partners about their security concerns in the sector. Road safety, incivility in public spaces and police proximity are the three main topics raised by our partners. The PDQ 33 is committed to ensure his actions will respond appropriately with the concerns of the partners.

The next diagram presents the main steps and the actions planned for 2019.

CROSSING AT THE RIGHT PLACE IN TIME

When there is a flashing pedestrian walk signal and a countdown, pedestrians can enter the roadway only if they are able to reach the other sidewalk before the orange hand appears.

A pedestrian who does not think there is time to get all the way across should wait for the next walk signal.

For a flashing walk sign without a countdown, pedestrians who are already crossing should hurry across to the other sidewalk. Pedestrians who are not yet on the crosswalk should wait for the next walk signal.

PDQ 33 RECEIVED SPECIAL GUESTS

On March 1st, the PDQ 33 was visited by about thirty participants of Afrique au féminin. These newly arrived women had the opportunity to visit the neighborhood police station and meet with the commander Joanne Matte and her team.

Thanks to Afrique au féminin team, a partener who make an amazing work with the women in our neighborhood.
